FOOTBALL

With September come beautiful coeds, parties, renewed revelries, the revival of school spirit and the ever present dominance of football. So it was in the Fall of '67 at Morehead State University.

The bright sun of a Kentucky autumn, the crispness of a brisk breeze, the recoiling sound of a blocking sled, the grind of cleats digging into the turf, the barks of knowledgeable coaches—these were evidenced as eager grid stars made rugged preparations for the stiff fall schedule. The long hours of concentrated effort were hoped to prove worthwhile for the persevering Eagles.

As the gates opened, students crowded into their sections, while the eager fans from the visiting school flocked to the ticket windows to secure a last minute seat.

Cool night air chilled the fans as the season opener against non-conference rival Marshall University got under way. The Eagles played their best for a 30-6 victory, and student expectations grew for another winning season, and perhaps a continuation of the conference championship from the previous season.

One week later the Blue Raiders of Middle Tennessee came to the campus, and in another contest under the lights, the Eagles defeated their conference foes by the score of 21-19. Morehead State University, a charter member of the Ohio Valley Conference, had not defeated Middle Tennessee in 16 years. "It feels real good to finally beat Middle Tennessee," said coach Guy Penny following the game. Middle Tennessee was the only team in the conference that Penny had not beaten during his nine years at the Morehead helm.

Murray's Thoroughbreds handed the Eagles their first taste of defeat during the 1967 season as the MSU gridders stalled for three quarters, and a well balanced attack by Murray landed them their first victory since the 1965 season.

The contest dropped Morehead's record to 2-1 overall, and 1-1 in the OVC.

"We can't quite put our finger on the trouble," said coach Guy Penny after the Homecoming tilt with Austin Peay which the Eagles lost by two, 10-8.

Three costly penalties seemed to demoralize the team. One for clipping called back a 98 yard touchdown run by All-OVC halfback Tommie Gray, early in the second half.

With a 2-2 record the Eagles traveled to Kentucky State College for a non-conference game in Frankfort. MSU pulled out a 20-16 victory in the last quarter, as the first half of the season came to a close. The record now stood at 3-2 overall and 2-1 in the conference.

MSU's Eagles traveled to Cookeville, Tennessee for a conference battle with Tennessee Tech, and came away the winner on a score of 21-16.

The following week brought "one of the hardest fought games in my nine years at Morehead," said Coach Guy Penny, after the team came home from Western Kentucky University on the short end of a 30-19 score. Hopes for continued success dimmed as the trainer handed coach Penny the injured list with more than a dozen players in questionable condition, one out for the remainder of the season, and one a doubtful starter against East Tennessee.

East Tennessee's Buccaneers brought a powerful team to the MSU campus, and their strength proved too much for the crippled Eagles as another defeat was entered on the record books.

To the north lay another foe, and the Eagles traveled to Central Michigan University for a non-conference game. The squads battled four long quarters through a sea of mud, and once again the Eagles were on the short end of the score, as the fifth defeat of the season went into the records on a 9-7 score.

Traditionally, the records are never considered as long-time rivals Morehead and Eastern clash on the gridiron. In the final game of the season for both teams, the battered and beaten Eagles were able to hold the visiting Colonels to a 7-7 tie. Eastern Coach Roy Kidd was handed the conference championship flag by Morehead Coach Guy Penny, as the visitors' conference record entitled them to first place position.

Morehead's disappointing 4-5-1 record ended Penny's ninth year at the Morehead helm. Everyone looked forward to the next season, in hopes that sparks would ignite for another winning season, and perhaps another OVC championship.

soccer

The boys with the educated feet kicked their way to an undefeated season, in only the second year of varsity soccer at Morehead State University.

Coach Mohammed Sabie's team, made up of volunteer players, many of whom had not played soccer before coming to Morehead developed into strong players as the season developed.

Only a tie with a strong Dayton team blemished the record for MSU. The Dayton team had lost only two games in two seasons.

With team spirit and fancy footwork in the practice sessions Morehead's soccer reputation can only improve as the players gain experience, and the sport gains additional recognition in the United States.

Through effective use of passing (above) and dribbling (below) the MSU soccer team (left) maintained an undefeated season.

Intricate maneuvers are necessary to score in soccer. The hands must never touch the ball, and as a result the players become quite good at kicking and heading as ways to move the ball past opposing players.

cross country

Cross Country coach Marshall Bank's runners broke even during the 1967 season, as they posted a 3-3 record in the dual meets on their schedule.

Pace men for the Eagle runners were Phil Hardin and Art Stegen. Against Kentucky State on October 30, Hardin and Stegen both broke the MSU course record as the Eagles won 22-34.

Hardin's time over the four-mile course at the MSU golf course was 23:32. Stegen came in at 24 minutes flat.

swimming

Hopes of MSU tankmen for an improved record over last year went down as the team compiled a 4-6 overall record at the close of the swimming season.

Highlight of the swimming record was a meet with arch rival Marshall University, which the Eagles won 69-31.

Swimming in the friendly waters of the Sneff pool on the MSU campus, the tankmen placed first in all but two events, and captured second in those two for the victory.

A "huge" crowd of nearly 200 spectators scrambled for seats in the 9,100 seat Municipal Auditorium, Nashville, Tennessee, to watch Morehead and Tennessee Tech battle it out for the opening game of the OVC tournament.

Held for the first time in Nashville, the tournament provided several upsets which gave the sports writers something to write about, but with the score tied 41-41 at the half, Morehead fell before the Tech defense, and was not able to rally against the eventual tournament champions.

Tech, picked to finish in the lower division of the Conference, won 67-60 over the Eagles. Tech played Murray in the final game of the Tournament, and by bursting out to an early lead in the first half, and containing the Murray offense, they coasted to the championship.

Morehead's Larry Jordan was named to the all-Tournament team, following the final game.

Following the disaster against Tennessee Tech in the opening round of the OVC Tournament, Morehead returned home to play non-conference rival Marshall University.

The Thundering Herd sent in a reserve player with only moments remaining in the game. John Mallet scored only one basket for Marshall, but it was a crucial one as it came with only eight seconds remaining, and gave Marshall the victory 79-78.

Recovering from losses in the first two games of the season, the Eagles bounced back and scored an impressive victory over Kentucky State, rolling up a score of 111-82. The final statistics showed six MSU players scoring in double figures.

With a 30 pt. win over powerful Canisius, the Eagles broke for the Christmas Holidays, to return for another bout with Marshall University on December 27th.

The Eagles gained revenge, this time reversing the one-point decision, 84-83, and placed five players in double figures.

OVC action began following the holidays, and the Eagles began on the road. Splitting a pair on their first trip, MSU downed Austin Peay, and lost to Murray.

The Eagles returned home to play Middle Tennessee, and won by 15, 84-69.

Willie "Hobo" Jackson returned to the line-up for a home game with Western, and sparked the Eagles to a 16 point win over the Hilltoppers.

Morehead ended a two game losing streak as they downed the visiting colonels of Eastern Kentucky University 89-80. "It was a must game for us," commented Coach Bob Wright, and this feeling was evident in the players as they held a pre-game meeting without coaches, then roared onto the floor to score their first eight attempts.

Eastern, the number-one rebounding team in the nation stood even with MSU in that department as each team gathered in 46.

Perhaps the highlight of the basketball season at MSU was the 101-80 romp over conference foe Murray. The Eagles, with six players in double figures, kept their OVC hopes alive with the victory, and avenged a loss to the Murray team early in the season.

In a game highlighted by the presentation of the first basketball team from Morehead State University, the Eagles downed Austin Peay for another conference victory.

Eight of the first nine basketball players for MSU were present with their coach, George Downing. Downing coached all sports at Morehead, and told the assembled basketball fans during a half-time program that "there were only 13 athletes for all sports, and we still managed to win."

Second half comebacks by Western and Middle Tennessee burst the bubble that had risen with the OVC hopes of the basketball Eagles.

Western and Middle Tennessee each scored four more points than the Eagles in contests on their home floors.

MSU hosted Kentucky State in a non-conference game and once again soundly defeated the Thoroughbreds, this time by a score of 109-71.

After tasting defeat at the hands of Tennessee Tech twice before during the season, Morehead out-scored their hosts by 11, 83-72, as Willie Jackson poured in 30 points and pulled down 13 rebounds.

A six point victory over Conference contender East Tennessee, dropped the visitors from the OVC lead as the Eagles won their last game of the season in the Laughlin Fieldhouse.

LaSalle players had to open all stops for a late second half rally, to hand the Eagles an eight point loss, 81-73.

Basketball at MSU sputtered to a halt as Eastern dealt the visiting Eagles a 94-83 loss, and closed out the seasons for both schools.

Morehead finished 12-9 overall and 8-6 in the conference, good for fourth place behind East Tennessee, Murray and Western.

track

Coach Marshall Bank's track team ran a futile last place in the OVC track meet, and didn't do much better during the regular season.

Standouts for the year were Phil Hardin and Dennis Hursey. Hardin broke the school record for the mile and three mile runs, and, as a sophomore, will provide excellent leadership for two more seasons. Hursey paced the runners in several meets for sprints, usually finishing the 100-yard dash in 10 seconds or less.

baseball

Baseball got off to a slow start at Morehead State University as the team split their first eight games, but came around to win the eastern division of the OVC, and the right to meet Middle Tennessee State University in the play-off.

A no-hitter and a controversial call at home plate highlighted the opening day of the O.V.C. Baseball playoffs between divisional winners Morehead and Middle Tennessee at Murfreesboro, Tenn.

The Morehead Eagles and the Middle Tennessee Blue Raiders played a best-two-out-of-three game series to determine who would represent the conference in the N.C.A.A. regional playoffs.

The Eagles compiled a 1-2 record in the play-off, losing to the Raiders 1-0 in the first game, coming back to win the second 2-0, and losing the third by a score of 3-1.
